I

It is with great pleasure I address you this year through Newsline. Over the years, Skyline University College has been offering programs to add value to the growing needs of business and industry. Skyline University College has come a long way from being an Institute in 1990 to a University today. We have been creating avenues for our students in all relevant fields of business management and strive to keep improving by each passing year. Now on its 22nd year of operations in the field of Higher Education, community remains the focus of all innovations that we have brought about. We are thankful to the Government of Sharjah for extending all support to the University College since its inception and we pledge to continue to follow the vision of its leaders. In its own vision the Skyline University College has envisaged to achieve ‘Academic Excellence, Professional Education and Competitive Advantage’. A judicious mix of professional knowledge and skills, embedded in the course curriculum, are the means through which our students realize this vision.

I am proud to announce that the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research, UAE has granted full accreditation to our Bachelor Degree and the initial program accreditation to the Master of Business Administration with emphasis on Human Resource Management (HRM). It is with the same immense fulfillment I state that we have got the membership of the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP) and the candidacy for accreditation.

Skyline University College continues to uphold its commitment to disseminate quality higher education to its students.

I congratulate the Newsline Team for coming up with this brilliant issue and encourage the students to continue showcase their talents through this forum.

Wishing you a great success,

KAMAL PURI
PRESIDENT
Dear Students,

The world is changing very fast and we encounter a new paradigm shift in philosophies, sciences and technologies at a speed unheard of a few decades ago. Generations get affected by these changes and the time difference between generation gaps has reduced appreciably at times to, just a few years. It becomes difficult and sometimes irritating for older generations to understand the moral and technological temper of the younger generation. This friction in values sparks the blame game of rejection of everything that is either new or old depending upon which generation you belong to.

To my mind this conflict is a very positive development in the history of mankind. Change is inevitable and as they say the ‘only constant’. This fact was realized centuries ago when it was deduced that ‘you cannot step in the same river twice’. Why? This is because the water you stepped in has flown already, by the time you step in again. This analogy is indicative also of progress, free flowing march of humanity for an even better tomorrow. Of course it has its pitfalls that bring with itself several aberrations but we must always look at the positive side of change.

Nowhere else do we observe the effect of this fast paced change than in an educational institution which has to adapt itself to the needs of the newer generations at the velocity of the generational change itself. Similarly, it is observed that ‘patience’ gets sacrificed at the altar of swift-change. Both the new and the old generations lose patience in dealing with each other leading to conflicts that affects progress. It is thus desirable that ‘patience’ is treated as a rare commodity that should be preserved by one and all.

Give a moment to understand the other point of view, weigh it, mull over it and then react. Any hasty reaction may lead to disaster. A misunderstanding between generations now will prove to be sacrilegious and ruin all the good work that has been achieved over generations. So, let us pledge to ourselves that we will not rush to conclusions and make a habit to take considered decisions. Have ‘patience’ and reap the fruits!!

I am extremely pleased with this new issue of Newsline. It has all the information of activities of the academic year 2011-12. It has loads of fun and tons of memories. I am sure you will all treasure the issue as a souvenir of an exciting student life.

I appreciate the hard work of each member of the Newsline Committee which has put in so much time and energy in bringing out this beautiful issue, congratulations! Keep it up-cheers!

Beautiful is that beautiful does...

Leafing through the latest Newsline issue it sure seems as if the entire Skyline fraternity knew that the curtains are up and the carpet is down all round the year! The past few months saw faculty and students of Skyline venture out of their comfort zone more than ever before.

The end result - a potpourri of achievements and bittersweet memories! At the same time a reflection of what could be expected further....

Aware that entire Skyline fraternity has been anxiously waiting for the release of this issue, I assure you that all the contributors have literally strained every nerve here.

Kudos to all the students and faculty whose tremendous vigor and zeal emanates from every quarter of this publication and who by their appreciable efforts tell us to.....

Open your eyes and look around... heights are being scaled... dreams are getting realized!

Hooray to all the associates of this awesome cruise!

Dr Mohit Vij
Chairman, Newsline Committee

There’s that little moment at the end of every chapter. And here is mine, at the end of a wonderful journey in Skyline University College, as a Student Editor. It isn’t my first editorial role and hopefully not my last. But the experience gained from it was immense. The task of encouraging contributions is not an easy one but it brought me face to face with Skyline’s talented writers, artists and photographers.

I am really thankful for having been chosen from among such a talented pool of students. I would also like to extend my thanks to all the contributors for such amazing works and to Dr. Mohit & Dr. Victoria for their extended support in bringing out a wonderful magazine.

As the entire nation celebrated the UAE National Day on roads, Skyline University College as a part of its annual calendar events celebrated too. The entire campus was decorated with flags. Colorful decorated cars took a round of University City of Sharjah. Faculty, staff and students from different nationalities celebrated this event.

Hats Off to the Student Services Department for Organizing wonderful events throughout the year!

“Jingle All The Way”
Christmas 2011

Christmas in Skyline has become a new tradition. With secret messages delivered by Santa himself and delicious candy canes and cake for all, it was a wonderful way to spread the joy of the season. This year a special raffle draw was held, where a very lucky student won two tickets to a movie! The rest of the day was filled with fun and excitement as students took pictures with Santa and our very own Christmas tree.
Farewell was a time of goodbyes, tears and recollection of sweet memories. The theme for the night was Red Carpet. Seniors were welcomed with paparazzi flashing at them as they walked in on the red carpet for their last event in Skyline. The evening was fun packed with games and performances. The highlight of the event was the SKemmy (Skyline Emmy) awards. With titles such as “Bunker of the Year”, won by Ketan Kumar & “Blondie of Skyline”, won by Moiz Athar, the atmosphere was filled with humor and excitement. The night continued as the students hit the dance floor and refused to leave till the very end!
Introbash this year was terrifying. The theme was set as “Halloween” and the freshmen were welcomed to Skyline with screams and howls. The night was filled with entertaining character walks, displaying their acting skills and confidence. The nominees were shortlisted to the 2nd round. The night was filled with fun games and a very entertaining Halloween special performance by Skycrew. In the end, Fayz Mansoor and Suad Ali won the much-deserved title for Mr. & Ms. Fresher and DJ Cyclone took over with his awe-inspiring remixes. To describe it all in one word: EPIC!
A Trip to Ferrari World Abu Dhabi

The traditional student picnic took an unusual shape this year. Fifty-three students loaded two buses and took off for the exciting experience of one of the coolest places in UAE - the Ferrari World Abu Dhabi. The Ferrari World has it all: the thrill of the fastest rollercoaster in the world and a leisure drive in a shiny Ferrari through the miniature Alps, the journey through history on a multi-media ride that shoots you right into the heat of the action and the excitement of a thirty-minute extravaganza including power skippers, stunt skaters, German wheels and acrobats that build an enthralling amazement throughout the show. Ferrari World is unforgettable!

The students didn’t seem to mind the long drive to Abu Dhabi and back. The bus ride was quite an experience on its own with music, singing along, playing games, laughing and even trying to dance in a moving vehicle (not the best idea!)

The later part of the evening was not as eventful but still very pleasant. There were enough twisters from KFC and Pepsi to keep everybody happy. The night was warm, and students had a good time talking, snacking, walking around the Heritage Village, and looking at the gentle waves washing over the rocky shoreline.

Student picnic was quite a success. The most frequent question now is when are we going on the next trip?
Teacher’s Day
Oct 5th, 2011

Teachers’ influence on Skyline students is undeniable. Knowledge and values are passed along; young lives and minds are shaped to meet the needs of the modern world. A special day to honor the teachers is a long-lasting tradition at Skyline. Along with knowledge, professionalism and wisdom, the students made an effort to honor their mentors’ humanity, something that all professors try to hide so diligently from their inquisitive students. The event proved that the professors were in fact human: they could laugh at themselves and they could get emotional when receiving a card signed by their students with words of gratitude – the best present ever. As for the cake test, it turned out the teachers as well as the students enjoyed the sweetness and softness of this masterpiece of confectionery art. The teachers learned something new that day: their students could be sweet and thoughtful. They reconfirmed the true value of being a teacher: docendo discimus (Teach in order to learn.)
A round sixty Skyline students gathered at the football field on November 24th to witness an extraordinary battle of tug of war between the four university majors. The ropes were steaming, the students were screaming... The international business students, with their high degree of cultural awareness, were able to make their international team work as one body and won the competition. Despite the competitiveness of the event, the real winners that day were Ms. Friendship and Mr. Fun.
Love is patient, love is kind… These words opened the celebration of the Valentine’s Day at Skyline University on February 14th. Red heart-shaped balloons on the walls matched the reds and pinks in dresses, shirts and ties of the excited students. Who can imagine a party without music, games, dancing and food?! When Skyline celebrates – we have it all! Students had a chance to participate in Music Chairs and Pop-the-Balloon, Charades and Hit-the-Piñata or at least laugh watching their friends attempting to win in one of these timeless games. Music got a little loud and dancing got a little wild, but everybody turned very quiet when Valentine’s Mail with its love messages was read. Love never fails…
On May 12th the Dusit Thani hotel in Dubai witnessed an exciting event - the Skyline Alumni Meet 2011. One hundred and thirty Skyline University graduates gathered that Thursday night to rekindle their Skyline spirit through shared memories and joy of meeting old friends and faculty members. The former students were greeted by the Dr. Amitabh Upadhuya – the Dean of Academics at Skyline University College. The warm welcome was extended to all the alumni and the guests. The evening took the alumni back “through the hour glass”. The memorable video with glimpses from the past made some of them break in laughter and at times shed a tear. The scavenger hunt assignment served its purpose as an “ice-breaker”. The names were remembered and the facts were established; no more wondering who started a family and who did not. The evening was heating up and soon it was time to show the talent. Alumni proved that time had not reduced their energy level a bit. They were the best singers, best sportsmen, and best dancers on the floor that night. “Fitness first”, “The Incredible”, “Time Machine” and “Lucky Number” were some of the activities that turned this party into a warm reunion of friends. As a final item on the rich menu of entertainment, the open dance crowned and concluded the event. After the music stopped and the lucky winners of the raffle draw had finally put their prizes away, it was time to say good-bye. Tired but happy with a speck of sadness in their eyes, the alumni strolled to their cars waving and promising to see each other again next year. Guess what? The Alumni Meet 2012 is just around the corner! It’s time to register and show your Skyline spirit again!
Ethnic means having a cultural tradition. An ethnic day is a day when individuals from different cultures come forward and display their cultural identity. Skyline having a multicultural environment displayed more than 20 countries, this means learning of more than 20 different cultures within 24 hours. Stalls were setup, presentations took place and ethnic clothes were showcased. A few students waked the ramp in order to acquire the best ethnically dressed award.
20th of October, 2011 was a joyous day for 190 Skyline University College graduates. Almost one thousand people gathered to participate in the 21st Skyline Graduation Ceremony in the University City Hall of Sharjah.

The program started at 19:30 with the UAE National Anthem performed by the Police Band and the arrival of the chief guest - His Highness Sheikh Dr. Sultan Bin Mohammed Al Qasimi, Member of the Supreme Council of the United Arab Emirates and Ruler of Sharjah. It was followed by the recital of the Holy Quran by Skyline MBA student Mr. Omar. The Flag March of 36 national flags represented the multicultural traditions of the UAE and the Skyline University College.

One of the focal points in the ceremony was the President’s speech in which Mr. Kamal Puri congratulated the graduates on their accomplishment and expressed his confidence in their future contribution to society. After that, Ms. Ameena Bagheri, the Skyline graduate, spoke the words of gratitude towards the university and its faculty that prepared her so well to enter the world of business on a professional level.

The following numbers of students received their corresponding degrees: 22 students – MBA with emphasis on Marketing and Finance, 25 students – BBA with emphasis on Travel & Tourism, 18 students - BBA with emphasis on Information Systems, 94 students – BBA with emphasis on International Business, and 31 students – BBA with emphasis on Marketing.

The Graduation Ceremony also provided for a special time to recognize outstanding Skyline University College students. The awards for toppers were presented as follows: Toppers at the MBA level were Zainab Hossain (Topper of Finance & Summa Cum Laude) and Chetna Satish Chandra Vashisth (Topper of Marketing & Cum Laude). Toppers at the BBA level were Murtaza Hashim (Topper of Travel and Tourism Management & Summa Cum Laude), Tahir Sani Buhari (Topper of Information Systems & Cum Laude), Hamda Ahmed Alali (Topper of International Business & Summa Cum Laude) and Ragwa Sakr Shihab (Topper of Marketing & Magna Cum Laude). Overall, nine Summa Cum Laude, nine Magna Cum Laude and sixteen Cum Laude were also awarded on that night. This year Student of the Year awarded to Ms. Chetna Satish Chandra Vashisth in the MBA batch and Mr. Tahir Sani Buhari in the BBA batch.

Finally, the University honored its dedicated faculty with the Best First Faculty for the Academic Year 2010-11 awarded to Dr. Shivakumar and the Best Second Faculty for the Academic Year 2010-11 to Dr. Meraj.

The formal part of the night was concluded with the Vote of Thanks presented by Dr. Amitabh, the Dean of Academics.

The graduates will also remember this celebration from all the pictures taken during the photo session. The smiles on their faces will always say, “Yes, Skyline, we did it!”

Skyline University College organized Skyline Carnival (Fete) 2012 on Friday, 10th February, 2012. An annual event being organized since 1999 is aimed at instilling the humanitarian and community services feelings in students. The event was inaugurated by the Chief Guest, Mr. Qasem S. Radwan, Consul General of The State of Palestine, Dubai. Guests of Honor included Mr. Mohammed Diab Al Mousa, Educational Advisor to the Ruler of Sharjah, Dr. MD. Mahmud Ul Hoque, Commercial Counselor, Consulate General of Bangladesh, Dr. Mohammad Hossein Hashemi, Culture Consultant of Islamic Republic of Iran, Dr. Rashid Al Leem, Director General, Hamriyah Freezone Authority, Mr. Ibrahim Barakat, Principal, Al Shola Private School and Dr. Saleh H Al Suhaibani, Cultural Attache, The Saudi Cultural Attache. The Chief Guest and Guests of Honor present took a tour of the stalls and other activities put up by students at the event. The Carnival was conceptualized by Skyline’s students.

Student stalls from UAE, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, Palestine, Egypt, India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Nigeria represented their respective cultural folk dances in colorful traditional outfits. The exotic food and cuisine from different parts of the world was visibly evident in stalls. There were cultural dance performances from Palestine, Africa, Afghanistan and Bangladesh. followed by singing from Iranian student from Skyline, Mr. Khalil Sabat.

Approximately 3000 people visited the Skyline Carnival (Fete) 2012, a platform for the youth in UAE to display their talent through cultural activities. There were a number of leading Universities and schools who competed for the winners and runner up titles for four categories of competition i.e.

1. Eastern Dance
2. Western Dance and Street Battle
3. Duet Singing
4. Fashion Show

JAL, a leading Pakistani rock band entertained the crowd throughout the event. JAL is quite well known around the region for their big hits and great stage performances.

The event started with a UAE traditional show, followed by an emotional poetry recited by Mr. Mohd. Ahmed Alcheikh Taleb, a Skyline Student welcoming H.H. Dr. Sheikh Sultan Bin Mohammed Al Qasimi after his return from his medical treatment and wished Him the best of health.

A surprise performance took place by FLIP J from the UK. FLIP J is an upcoming Punjabi band that has recently released their first album. The crowd cheered to their performance and also received their latest album as a gift.

The Show was hosted by Sobia Khan from 106.2 FM. The jury members included Mr. Aslam Khan, Mr. Shabana Asif, Mr. Gower Mumtaz, Mr. Abhaysingh Chawa and Ms. Juhi Yasmeen Khan

The winner’s trophies were handed by Mr. Nitin Anand – Director of SUC, Dr. Amitabh Upadhya, Dean, Dr. Sudhar Kota – Head of Quality Assurance and Dr. Osama Ali Thawabeh – Head of Student Affairs & Registrar. Skyline University College won the Fashion Show contest, while IBN Seena High School won the Duet Singing competition due to their stunning performance. The eastern dance trophy was picked up by BITS Pilani. After much discussion among the judges, there was a tie between IBN Seena High School and Skyline University College as both groups put up a great show.
“Skyline University College (SUC), in its 22 year of existence, has carved out a name for itself in the local and regional markets as a quality business education provider at a reasonable cost. SUC wishes to pay back to the society its achievements by extending scholarships to various associations, consulates, government and private organizations which will help students who are financially unstable to fulfill their educational goals”,

Mr Nitin Anand
Director, Skyline University College.

The following organizations signed the scholarship agreement with SUC as their educational provider

AL REWAQ CULTURAL & CHARITY ASSOCIATION
Headed by its Director, Dr. Mouza Ghubash

Dr. Mouza Ghubash, Director of Al Rewaq Association signed the MOU with SUC on 18th January 2012 at our premises. Al Rewaq is known to be a non-government organization providing charitable and humanitarian activities thru raising donations and delivering highest dedication to carry out their various charity projects within the UAE.

CONSULATE GENERAL OF THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC OF AFGHANISTAN DUBAI Headed by the Consul General, Mr. Atiqullah Atifmal

An MOU was signed between SUC and the Consulate General of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan, headed by HE Consul General Atiqullah Atifmal On 12th January 2012. This agreement will help upgrade the education qualifications of Afghani students in UAE through the scholarship given by SUC.
ACCREDITATION COUNCIL FOR BUSINESS SCHOOLS & PROGRAMS (ACBSP)
Headed by Mr. Douglas Viehland, Executive Director, ACBSP

Skyline University College was awarded the certificate of membership from the leading specialized accreditation association for business education supporting, celebrating, and rewarding teaching excellence, the ACBSP. SUC is proud to announce that we received the Candidacy for Accreditation by this prestigious accrediting organization from the USA on 30th November 2011 as well.

EMBASSY OF THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC OF IRAN
Headed by AMBASSADOR Mohammad Reza Fayyaz

The Ambassador himself, H.E. Mohammad Reza Fayyaz visited Skyline University College on 21st December 2011 along with his core team to discuss possible cooperation of both organization not only in uplifting quality education for Iranian students but also other business opportunities which can be attained thru a mutual beneficial relationship.
Skyline university college Sharjah participated in the Raymond Big Idea Start-up Challenge 2012 held in association with Dubai SME & Dubai International Academic City (DIAC) on 16th February at the Dubai Knowledge Village Auditorium.

The dedicate team of faculty from the area of finance to marketing and strategy at skyline university had selected nine (9) business ideas presented by the students. Dr. Welcome, Dr. Mahesh, Dr. Meraj, Dr. Kota and Dr. Masroor of the business faculty in the university worked as mentors on the student’s business plan and developed them to present in the competition.

Over more than 100 ideas from UAE, seven ideas of the Skyline student’s had been short listed for the semi finals round. Ms Sakina, Ms Astrid, Mr. Garbadian, Ms Hajira, Ms Basma, Mr. Daniel and Mr Yusuf were shortlisted as the semi finalist. This indicates the high quality of the ideas and the business plan of our students. Further, two of the seven semi finalist, Ms Sakina and Ms Astrid qualified for the list of top 10 finalists all over UAE. However, our both finalist Ms Astrid and Ms Sakina could not present their business idea on the day of grand finale because of their unavailability in the City.

“We believe that, this was a great first step of the University towards promoting and nurturing creativity and entrepreneurship in the university. This would have not been possible without the effort of our students and the expertise and dedication of the skyline university mentors for grooming and nurturing these students and their ideas”, Dr Sudhakar.
Dr Sudhakar reports, “the Big-Talk event is sponsored by Al Tamimi investments. It is an event where successful business entrepreneurs share their experiences with the senior students who are on the verge of completing the degree or are pursuing the graduate program.”

The process of Big Start competition is to encourage young entrepreneurs to shape up their idea and translate it into a business venture with full funding by Al Tamimi Investments. The student entrepreneur is required to generate business idea, prepare business plans and participate in the competition which will be held in three rounds. In the first round the student entrepreneur has to answer online a set of questions about the idea. The new idea will be evaluated by a group of experts from Al Tamimi investments with respect to commercial viability and highest scorers will progress to 2nd round. All the successful students will be invited for a one day workshop where in details of how to prepare a business plan and are required to submit a business plan about their new venture. All the participants will be invited by the Tamimi investments team to refine the plan on strategic, financial and marketing areas.

On being selected the student entrepreneurs will enter the third round where orientation on how to prepare the presentation is conducted and the student entrepreneur will have to present it to the senior officials of Al Tamimi investments. On being selected the case will be forwarded to the chairman and a panel of business professionals, the winners will be declared and are allowed to start the business with full funding.

This is a great opportunity for our students about 25 students attended the ‘Big-Talk’ at shelter in Dubai. They commented that it is a good learning and could understand the importance of Entrepreneurship course that we conduct. They realized the importance of dreaming big, breathing big and having a passion for becoming an entrepreneur. Our course has given sufficient orientation on preparing business plan, marketing plan and a financial plan. They could easily relate the issues discussed.

“Learning next time we can use this competition as a base to generate atleast one entrepreneur from our college. Also we should request them to have our premises for conducting such events so that our students can benefit“, Dr Kota added.
On 5th March 2012, Skyline University College organized its 12th intercollegiate / inter-University Cross Fire competition. This is an annual academic event organized by the college with a purpose of engaging the student fraternity into thinking critically on various social, political and economic issues. This year 6 universities namely American University of Sharjah, American University of Dubai, BITS Pilani Dubai, Manipal University and Skyline University College participated in the competition.

The topic for the debate was: ‘We will handover a green earth to our future generation. Is it possible?’ Full of vigor, intelligence and wit, the event lasted for almost four hours. Heated refutation rounds that followed the various presentations were appreciated immensely by more than 150 members of the audience. The judges for the event were: Ms Meera Taryam, Beeah, Mr Raheed Charfaray, and Ms Anupama Parkar from Toastmasters Club.

Yash S Shah of American University of Dubai bagged the best speaker for the motion trophy whereas Fahad Khan, from BITS Pilani-Dubai was rated as the best speaker against the motion. American University of Dubai triumphed as the best team along with BITS Pilani, Dubai being runners up.

Emphasising on the need of such events, Dr Meraj, Chairman of the show said that understanding, evaluating and discussing such issues enables the students to gather meaningful inferences for future decision making.
Economics day (7 December, 2011) was celebrated for the first time in Skyline this year. It was a wonder initiative by Dr. Wilson to encourage active involvement from the sophomore students. The Day was designed as a forum for the students, faculty and the public to discuss current economic issues. The class of 2011 macro economics showcased their understanding of current economic issues as witnessed in UAE and the global community. The students, divided into groups of two, each chose a country to research on and made detailed posters on their economic standing. It was a wonderful educational experience as students from all levels visited the exhibition and were explained in detail about each country. Through posters and charts- students presented ideas and concepts that illustrated understanding of economic issues to include unemployment, recession, inflation, economic growth and balance of payments. The 2-3hr event/exhibition witnessed students demonstrate design, artistic and creative skills in crafty presentations, while at the same time, discussed global economic issues from different industries and sectors of the global economy.

Economics Day presenters with their topics

1. Huimin Qui and Wan Lu - Inflation in China
2. Shekiba Atefi and Heeba Sayyed - The Socio Economic problems in India
3. Yara Rabadi and Amer Samman - Unemployment, inflation and recession in UAE
4. Hosna Hossain and Mosammat Jaynal - The Grameen Bank from Bangladesh
5. Saleem Usman, Ablah Wada and Suhayr Wada - Economic Growth in Nigeria
6. Yousef Abdul, Russel Andrew and Hatim Asgar - Exchange Rates and Balance of Payments in USA and Britain.
7. Asad Mudeer and Shenzeen Ramjuan - Unemployment, Recession in Pakistan.
A group of MBA students along with their faculty in Skyline University College decided to form a network of graduate MBA students in the fall semester of 2011. They were aggressively planning and initiating ideas about organizing one platform, where they could interact with their fellow graduate MBA students, and alumni of other Universities, and industry leaders in UAE. The outcome of the same was realized in the spring semester 2012, where they completed all the arrangements of such a network formulation. Skyline MBA students have made the first step in forming a network called “UAE Graduate MBA Network”. They have invited other regional universities offering accredited MBA courses to participate in the event along with many industry leaders and dignitaries. The network was inaugurated on February 14th 2012 at Sharjah Chamber of commerce. Dr. Marwan Al Serkal, CEO, Shurooq and Qanat Al Qasba, has acknowledged to become the patron chairman for the network. The graduate MBA network forum was inaugurated by H. E. Sheikh Marwan Al Serkal, CEO Shurooq and Qanat Al Qasba, Sharjah. He said that leaders need to disappoint others in their journey towards success. Having a clear vision in the journey is very important was his advice to the forum. He congratulated Skyline MBA students and faculty for launching a forum for MBA students, Alumni, corporate members and government members. The event key note speaker was, Mr. Hussain Mohammed Al Mahmoudi, Director General, Sharjah Chamber of Commerce. The panel speakers were Dr. Jan Kraus, GM Group Strategy - Emirates NBD and Ms. Maryam Ahmed Al Hammadi - Director Excellence, Dubai Municipality. The UAE Graduate MBA network has the vison of “Network and collaborate towards success”- through networking MBA students, and alumni and to have continuous networking events across the years to come, with industry partnership. Dr. Beena Salim, faculty of Skyline University believes that her students are thinking in right way to move towards success. She says, “with this platform where business leaders of tomorrow share and challenge their thoughts and ideas, a new generation of collaborative leaders will be born, and this is the need of this century where we find many economic, and natural disasters affecting business in exponential dimensions”. The structure of this network is such that the ownership is a shared, cooperative one where all the Universities will have representatives in the same and each network event will be hosted by rotation by different universities in future on a voluntary basis. In the first meet, decisions related to structure and positions needed for executive council will be made by the students, alumni, and university deans. This network will in future, help the students across universities to share and harness ideas and thoughts. Students are enthusiastic to meet their fellow MBA students and Alumni of different Universities and industry leaders. The theme of the meet was- Emerging nations- Emerging leadership and Business practices. The network was on February 14 2012 in Sharjah chamber of commerce. The strategic alliance partner for the event is Sharjah Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Marwan Al Serkal, CEO Shurooq and Qanat Al Qasba Endeavoring to bridge the gap between academics and industry, Skyline University College organized a Tourism Lecture Series where renowned tourism and travel practitioners addressed budding professionals at the varsity. The series comprised of six sessions scheduled throughout the week providing an opportunity to the students to interact with the guest speakers about tourism prospects in the UAE.

Mr Samir, General Manager of Alpha Tours, revealed the recent tourism trends and the distinctive characteristics that have contributed in making Dubai as one of the top tourist destinations in the world. He said that Dubai remains to be a major player in the Middle East’s tourism industry as it attracted 7.7 million visitors last year. “Abu Dhabi is also gradually honing itself as a popular tourist destination, and is projected to double its visitor arrivals to over 3 million by 2014. Overall, UAE is considered to be a safe destination with a perfect mix of natural attractions with modern facilities and state of art infrastructure. The country has been ranked sixth in the world for the quality of its infrastructure according to the World Economic Forum (WEF)”, he added.

Ms Chiara, Director of Luxury services at Alpha Tours, emphasized on the variety of tourism attractions that Dubai offers to the international travelers. “However, there is a need for professional manpower to handle such a surge in tourist traffic. Dubai is often considered to be a luxury destination attracting affluent people who desire a professional edge for their leisure, business and recreational activities”, she stressed.

Mr Abul, CEO of Data System International spoke on the increasing role of Information Technology in tourism business operations. “The travel operations are different from ordinary business processes as they involve interplay of several components such as hotels, airlines, schedule, number of people, invoices and so on. In such circumstances, the travel organizations are encouraged to adopt ERP (Enterprises Resource Planning) software to streamline the operations and avoiding any inconvenience to the tourist caused by human error”, he said.

Introducing the concept of “Budget Tour Package” to the students, Ms Abeer, Manager at Holiday Factory, explained how the tour packages are designed and promoted in the market. “Although preparing a tour package requires a lot of efforts, keeping the prices low without compromising on the quality is an added challenge for the tour operators in competitive times. The young tourism students are expected to master knowledge about international destinations and skills required to counsel potential travelers”, she added.

Mr Victor D’souza, Manager of Inbound division at Al Rostamani Travel and Holiday said that the students must have a burning desire and passion about tourism in order to get successful. “As a result of Government’s planned approach, UAE has not only successfully diversified from oil industry to development of tourism sector but also poses an example of excelling in tourism in such a short time span. Although the future in tourism sector is quite bright, a lot depends on the people working in this sector. Strong commitment and passion would remain the key to attain success”, he said.

Dr Mohit, Assistant Professor of Tourism at Skyline said that the contribution of the Travel & Tourism Economy to employment in the UAE is expected to rise from 13.8% of total employment, 429,000 jobs or 1 in every 7.2 jobs in 2010, to 18% of total employment, 745,000 jobs, or 1 in every 5.5 jobs by 2020. “Under the circumstances, there is a need for trained manpower in tourism sector to ensure sustainability. In the contemporary times, it is also heartening to observe that the young students are willing to look at the larger picture by becoming more concerned about education and its application in the real business environment”, he added.

Dr Amitabh Upadhaya, the Dean of Skyline University College congratulated the entire team and students for successfully organising the event. “Special appreciations to the guest speakers who despite their hectic schedule visited the varsity to interact with the students. Gone are the days when classroom teaching was good enough to prepare the students for industry. In the present times, the Universities have an added responsibility to orient students about the latest happenings and facilitate them for smooth transition from academics to employment”, he said.
Professional skills development program was carried out with a focus to develop the soft skills of the students in professional/business grooming. Ten training sessions were organized to cover the seniors, juniors, sophomore students from both the morning and evening batches and one batch of freshman students belonging to the evening batch. Ms. Summana Halder and Mr. Mgandi were the main trainers who conducted the majority of the training sessions for the students in the months of January and February.

The sessions were quite interactive and the students appeared to be quite satisfied with the training given to them. Many faculty members also attended the training sessions.

As part of the PSDP, on 22nd February, Career Day was celebrated for the sophomore students. Dr.K.Shivakumar started the day with a welcome address which was followed by the address by Dr.Amitabh who inaugurated the day’s proceedings. The activities carried out during the day included a session on Career Guidance and a Competition on Creative Advertisement Talent – CAT 2012. Dr.Meraj conducted the Career Guidance session which saw the students participating actively. This was followed by the CAT 2012 competition which was conducted by Dr.Mahesh and Dr.Mohit. The students were made into ten groups and a product was given to them for creating an advertisement. Dr.Manuel, Dr.Beena, Dr. Welcome and Mr.Andy were the judges for the competition.

All the groups were asked to make a presentation of their creation before the judges and three teams were declared as the winners and Dr.Amitabh, the Dean gave away the prizes to the winners.

In the evening, Ms.Sandi Sexena conducted a session on professional /business grooming with an emphasis on body language for the evening batch sophomore students and a batch of the freshman students. She explained the importance of body language not only in business world and but also amongst gender in different culture and country. The students were later made in to groups and involved in practical exercises. Dr. Osama, Dr. Beena and Dr.Shayzie attended the program. The program concluded with a vote of thanks proposed by Dr.K.Shivakumar.

All the activities could be carried out successfully because of the total support given by the Management, the Dean, committee members, faculty members and staff from administration, SSD, finance, computer department, IR and Mr. Andy, the Director of Short Courses, SUC.
Career Day Celebration

As part of the PSDP activity, Career Day was celebrated on the 28th March and 29th March evenings. On the 28th March evening between 7.15pm and 8.15 pm Mock interviews were conducted by five professionals from outside and 22 students from the senior/junior levels attended the interview. After the mock interviews Dr.Riktesh and Dr.Mahesh conducted a management game where 19 students participated. The students were divided into groups of three and were given about an hour’s time to complete the game and the winners were given prizes by Dr.Sudakar, Dr.Mahesh and Dr.Riketesh.

On the 29th evening, Mr. Murtada Alfateh Al Zaylaie, Director, Organizational Excellence Office, Sharjah Chamber of Commerce and Industry, gave a guest lecture on Professional/ Business Etiquette. The lecture lasted for about an hour between 7.30 pm and 8.30 pm. In his lecture Mr.Murtada covered different aspects of business / professional etiquette including the dress code, way of greeting, food and eating habits and showed some video clippings as well. The lecture was both informative and interesting and the students interacted with the guest speaker. The Dean, Dr.Amitabh honoured the guest with a memento and Dr.K.Shivakumar proposed a vote of thanks to conclude the session.

After the guest lecture, a team building game was conducted by Dr.K.Shivakumar and Dr.Riktesh. Nineteen students participated in the game which lasted for about an hour. The students were grouped into teams of three and Dr.Rashad gave away the prizes to the winners. The evening concluded with Dr. K. Shivakumar proposing a vote of thanks.

World Book Day Celebration

The World Book Day was celebrated on the 14th March; Senior MBA students attended the program. The evening started with a welcome address by Dr.K.Shivakumar. The Dean, Dr.Amitabh gave a thought provoking address which was followed by the talks of the authors Dr.Riktesh and Dr.Mahesh respectively. Both Dr. Riktesh and Dr. Mahesh shared their experiences as authors and the students were happy to interact with the authors which were very lively. Before the start of their talks both Dr.Riktesh and Dr. Mahesh were felicitated by Dr.Maria and Dr.Manuel respectively. Mr.Sundar, the Chief librarian and Mr. Art from the administration department also attended the program. Dr.K.Shivakumar concluded the program with a vote of thanks. He mentioned that the program could be carried out successfully because of the total support given by the Guest Speakers, the Management, the Dean, committee members, faculty members and staff from administration, finance, and the computer department.
Skyline University College always goes a step ahead in helping its students not only in guiding them in college-related activities but also in preparing them to live successfully in the competitive world. PSDP (Professional skills development Program) is one such attempt to enlighten them with the strategies that they require to live in the corporate world. It trains the students in writing their CVs, in facing the job interviews successfully and in grooming many other soft skills.

On 20th of February, Dr. K. Shivakumar, the chair person of the committee organized a session to train the students to face the Job interviews. Dr. Saziye conducted this session. She talked about facing the job interview in three phases: before the interview, during the interview and post interview. Dr. Saziye conducted the session with the help of Power Point presentation and also showed some video clippings. She highlighted some of the common questions that can be asked in the job interviews and also some tricky and tough questions that the students may have to face in a job interview. The whole session was very interactive and the students actively participated in the proceedings. Twenty six students from senior and junior levels doing BBM, BIB, BBI and BBT attended the training session which was conducted on the 20th February between 8 pm and 9 pm in the multi-purpose hall.

Strictly Business Communication !!!

SUC launched its MBA weekend program during the last academic year based on the growing demand of such programs. SUC identified that there are large number of professionals in the government and private sector who are keen to continue their higher education pursuits but find it difficult to manage their time during the working days, to facilitate them, fulfill their dreams and to accomplish our vision of lifelong learning, this MBA program was started and it got tremendous response.

In our endeavor to serve the community, we provide opportunities to all interested parties in the field of higher education. It is also important to mention that the contact hours, curriculum, the academic rigor and the nature of evaluation remain same as of our regular MBA program. We hope to activate our weekend BBA program also in due course of time. Flexibility in timing for community who are keen to learn is our responsibility.

Dr Beena, Associate Professor, MBA
Skyline joins hands with foreign universities

Skyline University College, since its inception in 1990, has moved on to becoming one of the leading business education providers in UAE. Now, in the 21st year of successfully operating in the Higher Education sector in the UAE, the University College has been a forerunner in recognizing the needs of the industry and integrating knowledge with professional inputs. The futuristic approach of Skyline strives to keep pace with the changing trends of market requirements and preparing its students to meet the challenges by grooming them all round academically and professionally in the global context. One important way of giving an international exposure and synergy to students is by getting into articulation agreements with the international accredited colleges and universities.

An articulation agreement is an officially approved agreement that matches coursework between colleges or universities. The agreement outlines specific courses and grades completed at SUC that will transfer to other university or vice versa. Articulation agreements ensure that students understand exactly which courses will and will not transfer. These are designed to help students make a smooth transition when transferring from Skyline University College to any other institution situated locally or internationally and vice versa. This kind of transfer of credits not only gives an international exposure but it can be considered as a cost cutting strategy for students looking for international degree programs. SUC articulation agreement usually provides a simplified, guaranteed transfer process for transfer of students as per their interest.

Over the years, SUC have explored and established MOU /Articulation agreements with various leading Colleges / Universities throughout the world that has enabled our students to smoothly transfer their credits at undergraduate level and to secure admission into the graduate study programs at several institutions in these countries. The Institution has articulation agreements with various Colleges/Universities in Canada, UK, USA, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, India, Pakistan etc., which facilitates the students to get transferred for further studies.

In continuation of such initiatives in AY 2011-2012 SUC has signed articulation contract with ECMIT. SUC has initiated articulation process with EIBFS and BITE, UK and planning to sign the agreements at the earliest possible. SUC students get this opportunity to transfer to a new environment and gain meaningful international exposure towards their pursuit of professional success through these articulation agreements.

Trip to Sharjah Aquarium

Dr. Mohit Vij, organized a field trip for the Tourism students to Sharjah Aquarium on 1st Feb, 2012. The initiative was taken to familiarize tourism students with tourism positive impacts in terms of preservation and conservation of flora and fauna. Sharjah Aquarium is known for its efforts towards taking care of the marine resources in the region. A special lecture on request was organized where Mr. Ismail briefed about front and back end operations in the aquarium. Firstly, students could associate the theories and case studies learnt in TAT 411 - Tourism Impact in the current semester, with the real efforts made by organizations such as Sharjah Aquarium. Secondly, they could also witness how the back end operations are carried out. These operations are not given access to ordinary visitors. The authorities also offered Internship opportunities to the students.
D r. Joghee Shanmugan, organized this field trip for the students on 23rd Feb 2012.

As a part of curriculum, technical visit are organized to attain thorough understanding of the subject. The students are able to understand the practical application of technical equipments and their utilization which has significant effects in achieving the learning outcomes. It’s a great feeling that students enjoyed the trip and also learnt organization’s business environment. The complete plant is almost automated with minimum manpower resource; students were amazed to see the robotics mechanism.

D r. Joghee Shanmugan, the organizer of this field trip took the students to Dubai Cargo Village, Dubai Airport on 22nd Feb, 2012. “Industrial visits are very much significant for operation management course, because the subject itself requires practical exposure for the students. Though one can watch video clips about operations, yet the direct visualization will have more impact on understanding the concepts. It is clearly noticed that students showed keen interest for understanding the complexity of operations”, says Dr Shanmugan.

Good hospitality was given from the host company and the manager of cargo division and two of his subordinates gave clear information about the entire operations of the cargo division and clarified the doubts raised by the students. The total students were divided into four batches and taken to their exact location of cargo handling from stage by stage with their staff. The complete plant almost automated with minimum manpower resource- it clearly correlated the significance of understanding the technical specification of the operation equipments.

It was a great feeling that students enjoyed the trip by acquiring practical knowledge.

Endeavoring to create awareness about water conservation and environment, Skyline University College celebrated World Water Day by organizing “Walk for thirsty” on 22 March, at Qanat Al Qasba, Sharjah. The event attended by 200 volunteers students, faculty, staff, Government officials and corporate, was well supported by United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), Al Qasba and Hamriyah Free Zone, Sharjah.

Mr. Ahmed Alsalasi, COO at Qasba Development Authority in his inaugural speech appreciated the initiative taken by Skyline University College towards this noble cause. He said that UAE residents are still among the largest water consumers in the world, with a daily consumption of around 550 litres per day which is three times the global average. “Al Qasba is committed to promote environment friendly tourism and thus welcome such efforts towards environment awareness.”

HE Dr Rashid Aleem, Director General, Hamriyah Free Zone, Sharjah delivered his opening speech “Parallel to the overall economic and tourism developments, UAE also excelled in carbon emissions per capita which became highest in the world in 2008. The UAE spends nearly Dh11.8 billion per year on the production of desalinated water to ensure its fast growing needs of drinking. Water is essential for urban development and plays a fundamental role in life. However the biggest problem with water is its scarcity and quality. The youth has a larger role to play in taking certain steps themselves as well as encouraging others to minimize their water conservation”, he added.

Ms Neha Swaminathan, UN representative for Child Security in UAE, and a student of sixth grade surprised the audience with her presence and short yet moving speech. “There are 7 billion people to feed on the planet today and another 2 billion are expected to join by 2050. Statistics say that each of us drinks from 2 to 4 litres of water every day, however most of the water we ‘drink’ is embedded in the food we eat: producing 1 kilo of beef for example consumes 15,000 litres of water while 1 kilo of wheat ‘drinks up’ 1,500 litres.”

Mr Nitin, Director, Skyline University College
“Walk for Thirsty”
World Water Day

said that according to the WWF Living Planet report published in 2008, the people in the UAE are placing the most stress per capita on the planet. “According to the findings of the report the people in the UAE are placing the most stress per capita on the planet. Compared to the world average Total Ecological Footprint (TEF) of 1.8 global ha/person, the TEF for the UAE was 11.9 global ha/person (hectares/person). The issue of water and environment is not only the responsibility of the Government, but also certainly the responsibility of all residents. The students should be taught about the importance of non-pollution of environment and avoiding water wastage. Inculcating “values” among students is a vital aspect of Skyline University’s mission statement. The varsity has a dedicated team of faculty who regularly conduct such community and environment related campaigns”, he added.

Dr Amitabh Upadhaya, the Dean of Skyline University College congratulated the entire team and students for successfully organising the event. “Some of the main environmental issues in the UAE are declining natural vegetation, increasing overgrazing on rangelands and desertification. Moreover, the extensive groundwater pumping has lead to a rise in soil salinity levels and effluents from the oil industry have contributed to increased air pollution. CO2 emissions in the UAE increased at 3.9% to reach 169.4 million metric tons during 2009”, he added.
Community service is an important element of the vision and mission of Skyline University College “SUC”. It is the manifestation of the SUC’s commitment towards society and its social responsibility. Services to Community provide an opportunity to the institution and its members to engage in achieving their responsibility towards the society and to contribute in community development activities.

SUC community service focuses on environmental activities and decided “Go Green” as a campaign of the same, where the faculty members, staff, and students are participating in preventing the environment by different types of activities, such as: cleaning activities, reducing paper consumption, increasing the awareness of environmental issues among the society, the faculty members, the staff, and students.

In a purpose to increase the awareness of keeping the coasts clean, Dr. Azzam, Dr. Sayel, Dr. Beena, Dr. Maria with around thirty students participated in the 2nd Hamriyah Marine Day Celebrations entitled “To commemorate the International Coastal Clean-up Day” on 19/Sep/2011.

Dr. Beena and Dr. Azzam visited Green Middle East, “The Environment & Recycling”, Conference and exhibition, on 18 October 2011, Expo Centre Sharjah, UAE.

On 12th/ December and as a part of its commitment toward the society and environment, Skyline University College (SUC) participated in the Emirates Environmental Group’s (EEG) tenth annual Clean Up UAE campaign. Dr. Azzam Hannon, Service Committee Chair in Skyline University College”, accompanied around 40 students to the location and joined hands with around 2,000 volunteers in the location and 27,000 volunteers in 109 sites across the country to collect waste, the drive achieved a good result since over 92 tons of waste from across the country were collected. “This year’s campaign was amazing and the volunteers were in high spirits,” Habiba Al Marashi, EEG’s Chairperson, told Gulf News “Gulf News, December 13, 2011”.

On the 21st/February, Ms. Wafa Sharif, Environmental Officer – in charge of Awareness from Bee’ah, she came to S U C and delivered a guest lecture to sophomore and freshman students of the morning batches. She showed a number of videos and explained to the students in detail about the residential recycling program and waste management activities. She highlighted the active role that Bee’ah has been playing in these programs since its inception and the achievements of Bee’ah. She also explained to the audience how everyone can make a small contribution to Residential Recycling Program and Waste Management. The guest lecture lasted for about an hour. Dr.K.Shivakumar welcomed the guest speaker Ms. Wafa, students and all the others to the program. Dr. Amitabh, the Dean inaugurated the program. Apart from the students some faculty members and staff also actively participated in the program. At the end of the guest lecture, Dr. Azzam, Chairman of the Services committee presented a memento to Ms Wafa on behalf of SUC and Dr.K.Shivakumar proposed a vote of thanks.

Furthermore, on 6th and 7th/ March/2012 and as a part of health education to the society, Johnson & Johnson partnered with Dubai Municipality have conducted a health awareness activity in our university, they have provided:

- Free eye checkup (vision correction assessments) with the help of our expert eye specialists and opticians, and offer free consultation and a week’s free vision correction lens to the students who would require vision correction.
- Skincare education
- And feminine hygiene awareness

The students liked the idea and participated actively!
United Arab Emirates by being one of the most attractive travel destinations is getting more and more people from around the world, regardless of whether people are coming for a travel, business or employment purposes. Russians are one of the most popular tourist nationalities in UAE. Lots of Russian tourists are coming to different emirates like Dubai, Sharjah or Ajman to enjoy resorts, luxury hotels, safari in dunes, shopping and excursions to Indian ocean and other attractive landmarks of UAE. If you just visit Dubai Al Mamzar Beach Park, you can find a lot of Russian people who enjoy swimming or sunbathing. Significant amount of Russians coming to or visiting UAE influenced country to open shops and restaurants where you can find Russian personnel and cuisine. Even in big supermarkets you can find a separate corner of products from Russia. Apart from the travel trend, there is another reason to come to UAE for Russian people as employment and business as Duba seems to be an attractive place to work and live in. Mostly those who come from Russia for business purposes are dealing with export and mostly open their companies in a freezones. Those who are coming to work find their opportunities to get employed in a travel companies, airlines and hotels.

Regarding the Russian community prospect, it could be mentioned that there is even separate Russian media in Dubai, consisting of some magazines published in UAE like Russia Emirates and radio station 96.3 FM where you can listen Russian music and news. It has also become popular for some Russian stars to come to UAE with their concerts.

Apart from that some young Russians like me are coming to study their bachelors in UAE. Not to say that quality of education is the main reason, but they see lots of opportunities coming from UAE’s growth and development.

This is my second year in UAE, I am 18 years old and I am studying Bachelors of International Business at Skyline University College. I have been recently employed by Emirates Airline. Challenge is my life motivation and I am continuously looking for opportunities which I can find in UAE in order to develop myself and my future.

"What we like most about Skyline is its convenient timing which gives us a great opportunity to study as well as keep on exploring external opportunities in the business world!"

Asma Mohd Pervez

I don’t have any specific hobby or interest but it really depends on my mood, most of the time it’s reading, music, watching a lot of movies or TV shows. And what drives me to writing is actually songs, a lot of experiences in life, with both family and friends.

Now all you want is a brand new start where you can be who you really are nothing to lose and everything to gain where life goes one without the pain but the fact is that is what cowards do ill make sure that i see it through no more crying over things i cant undo like everyone else i want God on my side but unlike everyone, i want you there too cause i still gotta thing for you so when the whole bloody world goes crashing down to your friends you r no more than a clown and when you need them most they dont stick around you know I’d come for you when you drown cause I know you’d do the same for me, no need to frown cause all we need is someone to be our guide to make sure the path we follow is alright cause goin on our own, that road we tried there we only lied, we only cried we lost our pride and a lil bit inside we died

now we got a second chance to set things right cause the future we couldn’t foresee is now in sight with the flame we ignite it will turn out bright so all day all night we fight for our spotlight cause this world’s a stage and we go together like the Sun and the Moonlight and to think we had a second chance to set things right cause the future we couldn’t foresee was in sight with the flame we ignite it was gonna turn out bright but all day all night all we did was fight until u left me alone under the spotlight and the world would have been a stage had we gone together like the Sun and the Moonlight people started saying shit and i was like whatever now i realize that wasn’t very clever cause those words slowly got to you like a stealth plane in a rainy weather

i told you there was nothing to worry cause our love was real any prob that comes our way, we’d deal never left ur side every time you were ill but you never believed me you just couldn’t feel leaving tears on the pillow case u cried still until in a couple of weeks they finally broke your will and it came to a point where truth hurts and lies heal you couldn’t sleep without taking the pills until u left me for the drugdealer who gives u re-fills yeah in this story Jack loses his Jill i was right back to square one my heart was on flames hotter than the sun how could i lose the war which i had already won? i looked in the mirror and saw what i had become someone who gave up everything for love, with love was done so first i stabbed the cupid with his own arrow just for fun tables have turned, i was gaining momentum now it was time to end this negative criticism so i got rid of all the critics, till there were none my words were enough, didn’t need a shotgun u remember all those photos we took, yeah i destroyed the whole album and think we had a second chance to set things right cause the future we couldn’t foresee was in sight with the flame we ignite it was gonna turn out bright but all day all night all we did was fight until u left me alone under the spotlight and the world would have been a stage had we gone together like the Sun and the Moonlight

Huimin Qiu

I am a student of Skyline University and my major is BIB. My name is Huimin Qiu, or you may call me Ariel. I come from Xiamen, China. I’m a vivacious, outgoing, fun-loving person. A hobby is what you enjoy most in your spare time. I like writing in my daily life. I want to say that let life be beautiful like summer flowers and death like autumn leaves. My motto is contented with little, yet wishing for more.

MY JOURNEY TO SKYLINE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Youth, like a flower blossoming, a boosting of the years, a good time, I would like to spend in the struggle. Also, 17 years old is often compared to half open blossom. And we are probably more cognitive/sensitive at this point. In my life, my parents always tell me that “Life Faces a Choice”. We soared, lively, make public, have a dream, with some young and ignorant gas. But we also are daring to challenge the future of the time.

In the spring of 2009, when I first set foot in this new country’ UAE, and this beautiful university Skyline, at that moment, I was stunned, the colors of local complete attracted me. Inside that warm, roomy university there was colour. A growing number of Chinese are studying abroad thanks to the country’s booming economic growth. But I told myself “Here is my dream of heaven”.

Zixian Liu

My name is Zixian Liu. I come from China, and study at Skyline University College. My major is International Business. Since I started to study at Skyline University I have met lots of friends and professors; they all gave me lots of help. Different cultures, different languages give me different experiences. I will remember Skyline as long as I live. My father works in UAE, so he wants me to experience a different university education. I have lived in China for 18 years, get Chinese education for 12 years. So when I first came this country, I was worried. But the teachers and students in Skyline college gave me a lot of help, they were so kind and generous. When I was refused and misunderstood, classmates always gave me a hand and instructed me what should I do. Professors also encouraged me when I felt dismay.

I’m so happy that I can acknowledge two different cultures through studying at Skyline University college although there have been same gaps between two different cultures. Since I came to the UAE, I learned not only knowledge, different cultures, different lifestyle but also the passion of youth, the spirit of sunshine, the power of religion. I hope to gain experience of a 3 year study at Skyline, UAE so I can make my dreams come true. I hope in my life full of sunshine like the weather in the UAE---Always Sunshine.
Shuyue Yang

My name is Shuyue Yang. I’ve been at Skyline University College for 2 years and I am a sophomore student. I come from China, a powerful and a beautiful country. In my spare time, I read books especially English books. I also enjoy music because it makes me relax and forget my sorrow. Maybe I look quiet but if you know me, that is not my reality. I am always ready to help people whenever they are in trouble. If you help someone else, you’ll be amazed at how much you feel yourself better. So, that’s me, a lively and a helpful Chinese girl.

Wan Lu

My name is Wan Lu, I am 20 years old and I’m from China. My major is Marketing. I am a peaceful girl, healthy, honest, and I treat people sincerely. I like singing and listening to the song and I am dreaming of the simple and free lifestyle. I like Skyline University because I have met a lot of lovely friends who are from different countries. Skyline environment is very good, the campus is covered with flowers… We are in a great learning atmosphere and that makes me feel free and happy.

Everyone was born with lots of dreams, so did I. Sometimes, dream is not coming true, but it did so when I had my university life in Skyline. Skyline provides an educational environment in international standards. That would explain why all kinds of teaching facilities could be easily founded in our campus such as library, laboratory etc. As a girl, going after romantic, studying in a campus covered by flowers was always an aspiration of mine. On the other hand, Skyline not only provides a lovely education facility but also offers high quality of education. During my school time, I felt that our tutors are very kind and extraordinary knowledgeable. All of them are professional enough to solve each question of all students.

Life is occasionally boring like a soap opera, but I’ve found a nice solution. Making friends is very easy when I am in our campus. In this peaceful environment, students are kindly and friendly. Skyline is truly my beloved place and it gives me a totally different life.
Students’ Contributions

Remembering my culture while embracing the others
Fatima Azzara

My parents have been living here for almost 25 years or so and I as well as my siblings have been residing in UAE ever since childhood. Therefore there was no better reason for me to continue my studies around the same place where I have accustomed to.

I do accept that brain drain is a huge issue in my country but then again every one waits for a great opportunity. If something like that will knock at my door, I would rather grab it with my both hands.

Skyline University College carries out these competitive events that encourage everyone to promote their own cultural aspects. For instance: We have Skyline Carnival Fete in which, apart from the various talent performances, there is competition between the country stalls and I am very proud to say that in the year 2010 Pakistan’s stall had ranked the first.

Apart from the Skyline Carnival, small events like “Ethnic Day & Night” turn out to be a huge success as well. Even here, no student falls back to promote their country. In fact such events not only allow me to promote my country but also give me the opportunity to understand other cultural aspects.

Wherever we live, we should not forget the roots and right traditions that our ancestors have taught us. My parents have always taught me that education can either enrich you or ruin you.

I am glad and privileged to study at Skyline where we are given the chance to exhibit our culture and also to respect other cultures and to live in a cordial atmosphere in concord. We remember our culture while we embrace other cultures……

‘A friend walks in when others walk out’
Noora Mohammed Nasiruddin

Right after we’ve left school, college becomes our second best home. Our college mates become our new friends, and as time passes, we forget about the delicate relations we once had with our school friends.

Some from those school friends were our classmates, some were our sports friends. Some had been canteen buddies, and some had been our best friends.

Hansi, Wow and I had been best friends since the early stages of high school. It so happened that our frenzied timetable split each one of us into sessions that were indescribable. I don’t remember any such session when I had time to spend with them. I would get complaints, gloomy faces and promises that were tough to keep.

Not much has changed since those demanding days. I find myself under the canopy of complaints, gloomy faces and promises that for sure break off. But friendship is a shell; easy to find yet hard to break. No matter the consequence, the relations will just keep stronger as the clouds pass by.

What is one to do in times as these? How is one to allocate their treasurable time to people who are a part of their presence?

I figured that at least a buzz every two weeks is sufficient. With my best friends, just a cat’s nap is enough to fathom everything that had happened in my time off. Or maybe I could just shoot a mail to them, attaching pictures of the moments I believe they have a right to know about. Furthermore, it isn’t a bad idea to drop in at their home one weekend, rather than lazing.

As said by an unknown source, ‘A friend walks in when others walk out’. No matter how absorbed one is in this fast moving life, friends will always stick by. Always try to cater a small sector of your time to these friends who will always stick with you, even though you have been occupied with the bustling responsibilities of this world demanding.
To all the Dreamers
Farzana Sultana

Block out all noise, stay quiet and read. Read for few minutes; be attentive for your own sake. Do you have a desire to achieve something very great? YES! Most of us really so. Believe in your potential and here you will find a lot more than what you see.

You are a “Dreamer”, this article is dedicated to you. Right now you are the most important person around. If you had been the only person reading it, I would still have written it, you are that special.

Let me qualify you, A dreamer is a person who is not afraid to challenge the norms, not afraid to follow their own path, someone who is always willing to take a chance and always ask “Why” before taking a step in anything. A dreamer pictures a great future for own self, they are the world changers. I believe every one of us is born unique in every way, but over the years we work hard to become like ‘someone else’. Dreamers chart their own destiny, though they might not reach it by the end, but they believe it all the way. They are always striving to be the person they were meant to be and are not afraid to be different.

A dreamer don’t follow they crowd. An environment commonsense tells us to go this way. Unfortunately, common sense is not always a good sense because it’s not unique. Being a dreamer you cannot afford to work on society’s standards.

Follow your dreams, if you can think it, you can have it. The greatest pain comes from not believing there is a future, not being able to dream about something better. Be patient to reach your dreams. Hurdles will be one way but learning from the obstruction will make you stronger minute by minute and layers of your dream will be revealed. Get excited and enthusiastic about your own dream. This excitement is like a forest fire... you can smell it, taste it, and see it from a mile away

“No person has the right to rain on your dreams.”

Marian Wright

All successful men and women are big dreams. They imagine what the future ‘could be’, ideal in every aspect and then work every day towards their goal and purpose. Don’t say you don’t have enough time. You have exactly the same number of hours per day that were given to Helen Keller, Louis Pasteur, Michelangelo, Mother Teresa, Leonardo da Vinci, and Albert Einstein. A dreamer watches they sky and the stars shed light to their thoughts of darkness.

“Never say you have failed until you have reached the last attempt, and never say it’s your last attempt till you have succeeded”.

Think twice, Do wise!!

If wealth is the secret to happiness, then the rich should be dancing on the street, but only poor kids shows the performance.

If power ensures security, then all officials should have walked unguarded, but those who simply they sleep soundly.

If beauty and fame bring ideal relationships, then celebrities would have the best marriages, but this happens to be in ordinary livings.

Two bulls always keeps fighting in a person’s mind “Good and bad” the one you feed the most will face the Victory.

Live simply, walk humbly and love genuinely
A BETTER WORLD

Dry your tears moonbeam,
Accept without questioning,

The sad inconsistencies of life,
Accept in good faith, what lies ahead.

Laugh along with the mighty one spinning fate,
Enjoy friends, good songs and your pretty lace.

Think little of age criss-crossing your face,
But upon the moon or a pretty flower gaze,

For thus is best told natures silent tale,
When we live like it was sports and play,

And drift with the currents of life,
Like a gourd drifting down the Nile.

But hope for that coming day,
When we can make this world a better place

To a Special person who skipped my heart a beat

A loving Daughter and a Jewel to her parents
A darling sister, who happens to be a heroine at times
A teacher who is always caring and nurturing for her students
An Auditor dependable at her workplace and makes her Boss smile on a gloomy day
Has a capacity to become a loving mother and wife in future
A Colorful friend to any human being who meets her on our road to Life
And now...............who happens to be a Queen who has stolen my Heart so that I could share it with all of you in this masterpiece
John sat with his colleagues and wondered why they were so happy. He wished he had not come, he felt like a party crashed, how could they smile knowing this might be the last time they would be gathered together as friends, before their respective careers pitch them against each other as competitors, or time loosen the cord of friendship which exist among them.

He felt so out of place, like a penguin without a song. He felt queasy and his stomach knot, for he had never been good at saying goodbye. When he was two, he cried everyday when he had to part with his mum and go with the bus to school. At six he had to run to his room, hide under his bed and cry when his cousins who stayed ten blocks away came to visit and it was time to go. When he was ten his mum and dad separated, he cried for weeks and the only words he spoke was to ask, what the words irreconcilable differences meant. He became a loner after that and he refused to make friends anymore for in his young and tender heart he came to realize that “nothing lasts forever”.

But everything changed when he got into college, where it was impossible not to make friends, the atmosphere was always full of excitement and by being a loner you were sure to be missing out on something, classes were interesting and everyone was friendly and ready to help. In the corridors during the recess periods someone was always bound to say hi. All this and much more caused a change in Little Johnny, he became friendly and discovered the fun in having friends. He found a sanctuary in his studies and in his friends. He felt safe knowing he would see them in college everyday and suddenly his fear of goodbyes vanished or so he thought.

How time flies when we are happily engaged in what we love. To John, for he was no longer little, the time flew by like a tiny specter in the vast landscape of his teenage existence. For up to that Moment, his college days were the fondest memories of his life.

But like the philosophers say, all good things must come to an end. For suddenly it was graduation semester, and Johnny who was not good at saying goodbyes became miserable. He had become so used to his friends and dependent on the safety and predictability of his environment, that he was unwilling to swim out. He was sick more often, his grades dropped and all the while he kept wondering why no one else was worried about this being the end of the road.

He had two very close friends and they were really looking forward to the graduation, Salim was going to manage his family’s diamond mines in South Africa while Alan was going to Cambridge for his masters degree. They all kept telling John how lucky he was to be going to America for his own postgraduate degree at MIT. Yet in his heart he wished he could just tell them that he was not interested in going to the United States, but he couldn’t, instead he imagined the worst things happening before it was time to say goodbye to his friends.

In one of his minds vision, just at the moment when they were going to embrace and bid themselves farewell the world came to an end, in another he was called by the administration and told that he could not graduate as his CGPA was below the one required. But he knew this would never happen as his real CGPA was great. He kept creating scenarios in his mind till it was the day for the graduation ceremony.

He suddenly wished he had not come, his palms were sweaty and he couldn’t focus, suddenly it seemed like the president was addressing him, he had not even noticed the president’s speech had started.

“Gentlemen and ladies” the president was saying “as you go out into the world, we want you to know it is not the end but rather the beginning of the rest of your lives... You are now worthy ambassadors representing the values and ideas of this university and you will have the opportunity to form your own ideas and values. We want you to know among everyone of you, there exists a connection and whatever you may do, do it well so it can reflect a good light on your friends who might be in different parts of the world... Remember that true friendship lies in the ability to grow separately without growing apart, so go shine a light, go and succeed”.

It was John who started clapping first and the rest of the hall joined in, for right at that moment his worst fear was no more. He had found relief in the president’s speech.

The afternoon speed by and farewells were said amidst hug and tears and promises of reunion in the near future. Days became years and they all became men, each one succeeding in his or her chosen path. But they never forgot to set out a day in each year to hold a reunion.

Sweet Farewell
Nirojah

As we look back upon it
Our time is nearly done
All those memories shared
And all that extreme fun

Coz moments don’t last forever
Neither can we be together
The world is so much greater
Time to give our seats to another

Hear the last ring of the bell
And Bid a Sweet Farewell

Maybe we shall meet someday
Or we could walk the same path
But only time can tell
The answer to that math

Coz memories last forever
Different paths converge together
Experience things so much greater
Chances to meet one another

But only time can tell
Till then, a Sweet Farewell.

The Rollercoaster That It Is
Mohd “Nido” Nihad

What do we know about life? Here’s my thought on it, it’s the biggest, most perilous and unique rollercoaster ride ever, which has got a different design for every human born to this world, a ride which is controlled and designed by us, but is set by a greater power.

It’s got all the ups and downs that you would come across in life, all the loops, all the jams, the malfunctions, the truth is, and no one alive ever has a ride without the malfunctions.

It all depends on us, we, can grease the wheels, fix the glitches, modify it to our liking, we can make it a better ride for ourselves and we all know a rollercoaster is more enjoyable when more people tag in with us, a lonely ride till the end would be quite a depressing one. Who likes to ride the up’s and downs of an awesome rollercoaster, without having friends and family to scream and enjoy with them, I know I wouldn’t.

Couple of things I’d say is entirely in our hand, The stability of our path again is on how we build the base of our structure, how well it’s planned out, what materials we use for its construction and how quickly we fix our rails before its too late, I would say that it’s never actually too late to clear out a disorder we may come across, just saying “The sooner, the better”

I aim on building such a schematic for my ride of a lifetime in such a way that, people look up to my path, and try to make a path of their own by drawing a bit, and I mean just a bit, of inspiration from my structure, once that happens I know I’ve done something worthwhile with my lil roller coaster, think of it as such, you come to know how awesome your roller coaster is, only when others ride it.

Then again, we’re always given a helping hand, our parents are the experienced engineers who help us build the base, support us through our ups and downs, all the loops, all the downhill surges, till we know how to maintain the structure that they have managed to set up for us, and once we know how to maintain our old structure we also learn how to keep building on, and progressing forward, with no halts and maintain a continuous flow to it

Not to mention the countless number of loops that we do encounter on course to the end of it, the loops which make the ride more enjoyable, and makes you feel like the rides a bit longer, it makes time pass by you much slower than it really is, you savor each moment spent on the numerous loops you pass by, but, as we all know, in a rollercoaster the loop too, does have its end, and we just move on with it, looking forward to the next loop present on the ride of our lives.

This is something I’ve come across quite often, most of us feel like getting off the ride because it’s too scary, and may be spiraling out of control, but we all know that isn’t the wisest of choices to be made, as getting off a rollercoaster midway through the ride is, well you know, stupid, least forget that we aren’t on this ride alone, if you plan on derailing your ride just for selfish reasons, what about the people who have been riding it with you for so long, just cause you’re the master of your ride doesn’t give you the power to misuse it.

But once you’ve set course on this wild ride, and you actually manage to make the perfect structure for it, it’s all smooth sailing from there. Well I know this isn’t the easiest description of life that one will encounter, and that this isn’t the best either, but I feel that comparing life to a rollercoaster is one of the best ways, to describe this untamed and unpredictable ride that we call our life.
The Best Mom Ever

Rana

Mother is a word that is really difficult to describe as to what it means to me. Mother is a word of 6 letters but full of spiritual, deep and comforting things. Motherhood should be appreciated with a very high standard. If you will ask me personally, I would die for my mother because she is the most precious thing in my whole life. I used thing and not person because she is not just a soul of an angel, she means a lot of things to me. For example when I look at her, I see safety and cleverness coming from her heart, I see love and warmth coming from her brain. And the biggest thing that I see when I look at her is HEAVEN coming straight from the centre of her soul.

*Lucky me..!! because she is my Mom..
*I love you Mom...

Mother’s blessings

Renne

Mom a logo for the most beautiful things in the whole existence. While writing this article I repeated the word “mother” a lot of times in hope that I’ll know what does this word means.!! Every time I said this amazing word, I didn’t feel like the previous time I said it, or the next time. Just think of it for a second, when you are alone and you say this word you’ll feel as if you were in the centre of the world. Say this word when you are scared, you’ll immediately feel safe as if you were surrounded by an army of guarding angels. Say this word when you need her, and you will feel as if she already hugged you and told you don’t worry my baby everything is going to be alright. Say this word when you are sad and unhappy and at the same moment you’ll feel as if Leonardo da Vinci painted a magical smile on you face. Say this word when you are distracted and you will know how this person focused in this life trying to provide the best of everything just for you, and try to say this word when you don’t know what to do, and you’ll have a quick vision of all the methods that your mom tried so that she’ll give you and never ask to be given. And at the end say this word when you really miss her and you will realize how lucky we are to have this extraordinary gift from god which is full of love and wrapped with mercy, kindness, motherliness, apprehension and everything we can’t see but we feel.

“If evolution really works, how come mothers only have two hands?”
~Milton Berle

“Motherhood is priced
Of God, at price no man may dare
To lessen or misunderstand.

العنوان: التكيف مع الحياة الجامعية

لغز: لسأ أن أهي صناع المستقبل وأجعل النضال وأجعل عبارات التحفيز، وعليه فقد طلب مني الكاتبة عن موضوع "التكيف مع الحياة الجامعية".

معنى التكيف مع الحياة: أن نتأقلم مع تحديات الحياة الجديدة وتعمل معها بشكل سلس وسهل. ويختلف مدى التكيف من شخص لآخر فأخبره التكيف بعد مرور شهر من بداية حياته الجامعية والآخر يحتاج لسنوات. فالناس أنواع ويمتاز الأمر على الحياة الماضية للشخص.

إذا تعود الشخص على التقلل من الصغر صارت القوة على التكيف أكبر وأقوى، وفي هذا الموضوع سنقوم بتبسيط الأمور الحياتية لكم ولذلك ستستندي لكم المبادئ بكل سهولة في بيئة جديدة كالبيئة الجامعية.

ال كثير من الطلاب لا يوجد الرحل عن بيوتهم والذهاب إلى السكن في الجامعات، إلا أن الأمر سيعود إليهم بالفعّ صمبو من حيث لا يدركون وسيرون ذلك إذا ما قارنو خبراتهم قبل الجامعة وبعد التخرج، سيرون أن الفرق كبير وواضح.

من الطلاب من يجد صعوبة في الحياة الجامعية نظراً لقلة المال أو عدم الاستخدام الجيد للموارد المالية، والبعض الآخر يجد الصعوبة في التعامل مع الآخرين، والبعض يلبقي الصعوبة في تخطيط سير حياته اليومي، والبعض يفقد قوة علاقته مع الله تعالى والبعض الآخر يعاني من المشاكل النفسية كالخيبات إلى البكاء والاهل.

ووهذي الموضوع سيسهل عليكم كثيرًا العيش في الجامعة وذلك بالنظر إلى المحاور التالية:

1- المادلة
2- الحياة الاجتماعية
3- الحياة الدراسية
4- الحياة الدينية
5- الحياة النفسية

My visit to England

I went to England for the reception
With an admiration for completion of a mission
An opt to get an admission
In the university I searched on the net
Asked my cousin when I met

What inspired me most of England
Was the nature so pure
A luxury of beauty
And the weather untrustable
Rising and falling raining n warming on its own

Whereas London has a different tone
A rhythm that is only known

To those who are familiar
With the hustle and bustle
And the whisper and crisper
Its beauty is engaged with classics and magics
Enduring its histories
And still solving its mysteries
The residences are of multi tribes
All given equal rights

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

Ubaid

Importance of knowledge can never be ignored at any level. As we must be well aware of the proverb “SEEK KNOWLEDGE FROM CRADLE TO GRAVE”. A person can easily be judged by the knowledge he possessed. A knowledgeable person can understand the things quickly as compared to the uneducated person. In my opinion, knowledge is not for the purpose of getting a job or for the sake of earning itself but its purpose is much more than this as it brings a unique change in a person’s attitude and behavior. Talking about real societies where knowledge prevails, where we feel that people show thrust in and eagerness towards knowledge always develops their citizens better and also contributes for the betterment of the society. People’s belongingness to such classes always is considered as the real asset of the country; purely because I personally believe that these types of people don’t have their own goals, they contribute and sacrifice their lives to do something positive for the benefit of the whole society.
Life is a journey

Talha Hussain

Life is a journey and here I am to share some glimpses with the readers about how I see life and it used to be. Life is not a bed of roses and it takes us across different paths, through the untrodden paths, and this has been one among them.

My personal experience at the Skyline University College has been like a rollercoaster ride. It has been so fast that the fun and the frolic that I have been into made me forget where I am in time. With the mixed culture and diversified nationalities around, it gave me a very good insight to understand various cultures and get closer, understand and adapt with them. Be it at the student level or at faculty level, it has been an enriching experience to learn and share ideas among the peers and mentors.

The most prime memory of Skyline which will stay ever young with me will be my fight for having an events committee in the evening batch of Skyline. With the lack of any committee dedicated for the evening batch, there was very less enthusiasm and movement among the evening students, everything depended on one general body which involved most of morning students. This was resulting in a lower motto among evening students leading to non participation and lack of exposure due to very minimal activities in the evening batch.

Later, however having been anonymously selected by my class as the Class Representative for non academia for the sixth semester, I finally felt to do the maximum out of it having got a third time chance after declining it twice earlier.

This gave me an opportunity to discuss with the Head of Student affairs during the first CR meet and I put forward my concerns. With a new sense of hope and adventure in mind, I approached my new task in charge with full zeal and fervor.

My prime target was to form an evening committee to look into the issues of the students at the beginning and a sense of satisfaction touched with the events committee formed with evening batch in mind. After the formation of the committee, there has been considerable culture change in the approach and at the motivational level among the students.

The next major hurdle was to bring in hope among the fellow students and to motivate them to participate and be a part of the new culture. Touch wood, it was magic for me, with a little bit of face value making its smile over me. My fellow mates were overwhelmed to participate in the committee. To conduct the first event and to put it in place was a major milestone, which we achieved through a lot of planning, hard work and commitment from the members. The event was Ethnic night and was a huge success. It was highly appreciated by the faculty of Skyline, instigating the morale of students who were looking forward to participate in forthcoming events.

Following the success of Ethnic night, it was bit easier to campaign for the major calendar event of Skyline College which happens to be the Skyline Carnival. For the first time in the history of Skyline, the evening folks showed non-resistance to participate for the Carnival. Artistic extravagance was at display to demonstrate the interest among our group to portray their talents and skills they possessed. Country stalls were major highlight to add a jewel to the crown of events. Dance and music was already in the air.

My major vision to bring in a movement among evening batch was realized with a great sense of achievement and satisfaction to spice the boring and dumb environment prevailing before.

It has been a remarkable journey in Skyline University College till now and has given me immense pleasure to do so much for my fellow students. It makes me happy to leave a legacy behind me with smiles and memories to cherish among my friends and fellow students.
“Art and music is everything to me. I love to doodle wherever I am let it be a classroom or at home. It’s just something I have to do. I usually work with Ink and water colours. One thing that interests me the most is Tattoos. I always try to do art while listening to music as it just creates a better atmosphere to work in, calm or according to the pace of the song. Photography or as I like to call it taking “black and white photos and messing around with the contrast and light” was just a phase as I discovered my Nokia with a 2mp camera can take pretty awesome pictures.”
I looked up to the sky at night, the stars seemed like scattered diamonds, right in the middle of nowhere, the breeze behind my neck gave me chills, the wind lead me towards an unknown place. The place I’ve reached having no clue from which direction I came from or even where to, I followed my gut feeling and kept on going. “Was I barefoot?” How did I walk from home without my shoes on?” I murmured. It didn’t really matter to me; I didn’t even know how I got here initially. I felt like an unfamiliar person who’s lost in this place surrounded by big bended trees with dangling branches. So, I walked further ahead pushing them with both hands, yet the thorns marked scratches on my face and had torn part of my clothes, apart from that the divine scent of oak trees filled my lungs and took my breath away, the cold rain drops dripping on top of my head while I sneak looking for my way out of this place as I tread lightly, thus I had to stoop to avoid hitting the broken branches then stroll to where ever either back to where I came from or to the unknown.

Half a mile ahead, towards somewhere a weird sensation I’ve never felt like before, like a magnet inevitably attracted to its opposite pole. A cold feeling rushed down my spine. The hair stood on the back of my neck….feeling the goose bumps all over my body…consecutive heart beats were beating so fast I could literally hear it from my chest.. adrenaline rush with the slightest movements I’ve ever experienced in this momentarily silence… having to be lured by this mysteriousness bothered me. It felt like my inside is tied double in knots, but the risk to go on with this two-edged sword alleyway was invincible with god’s whispers.

“Skyline is one of the places to be in! I have met people of different backgrounds whom I made friends with easily. They have given me a flowery experience that is worth a lifetime of adventures. Kudos to you my friends!”

My Name is Mohamed El Beyrouthy-Currently I am working in Abu Dhabi Islamic Bank- Retail Banking supervisor- and Studying in Skyline college- Bachelor in International business.

Two of my great passions in life are travel and photography. I believe that travel broadens one’s view of the world. Experiencing other cultures, meeting people from other communities and other countries and seeing the beauty, and sometimes ugliness, of the world has helped me understand that all of our lives are at once interconnected and individual. It has made me better appreciate my own home and culture as well as that of the people I’ve met and the lands I’ve seen and I have become a much more tolerant person as a result. Through my photography I seek to document my own personal experiences, to capture scenes and events as I see them and to share with others the beauty and diversity of the world I’ve seen. As the images of other photographers have inspired me to explore the world, I hope my own contributions will inspire others to do the same.

I view the art of photography as a subtractive process, a distilling of reality into a personal vision. As such I often use the tools of modern photography – filters, digital enhancement – to try to capture in an image the emotions I felt at the moment I tripped the camera’s shutter.

Photography has always a hobby of mine, as with anything, you put your heart into it and it will come naturally to you!
Women as social leaders
Dr. Beena Salim

Dr. Beena Salim, Skyline university College faculty for MBA presented a paper on “Women as social leaders” in the conference, “Women as Global leaders – Creating a sustainable future for the world”; conducted by Zayed University, UAE. In her paper she identified two women leaders who became social leaders and fought for the sustainable future of the world in their own countries. According to her these two women leaders– Wangari Maathai – (nobel peace prize winner 2004) from Africa and Medha Patkar from India have fought against the government and educated and emancipated people who were being deprived of their livelihood in their own country.

Dr. Beena was congratulated by H. E. Sheikh Nahayan Bin Mibarak Al Nahayan, Minister for education and scientific research, UAE for her work. 70 % of UAE undergraduates are female students. But only 35% of these women are working. And only 12 women sits on boards of different organizations listed in DIFC. But there has been a rapid change in the movement of women to higher positions in UAE. Dr. Beena asserts that women can lead organizations towards a sustainable future for the country and can thereby affect the economy of the world in a sustainable manner. As Wangari Mathai says “every drop in the wide ocean counts”, although it will not be seen immediately. Hence we need to take actions to improve the world towards a sustainable future even if your actions may go unnoticed for the period, but it will contribute to the greater goodness”. Zayed University conference according to Dr. Beena was an eye opener to many facets of sustainability and how each person can contribute towards the same.

There is some similarity between these two social activist who were researched by Dr. Beena. Both the leaders have started their social activism to support environment. Wangari Muta Mary Jo Maathai (1 April 1940 – 25 September 2011) an environmental and social activist had formed Green Belt movement to fight against the government decision to build a new government building in a park in Kenya and Medha Patkar is well known for Narmada Bachao Andolan- which is to protect Narmada. Narmada Bachao Andolan is a social movement consisting of tribal people, adivasis, farmers and and human rights activists to fight against the Sardar Sarovar Dam being built across the Narmada river, Gujarat, India.

After their success in these activities they lead many other social causes for the women and environment in their own respective countries. These leaders are inspiration for the young female educated population in many ways. Both these women leaders are highly educated and could have lived in their own luxuries. But they chose to see and respond and make others aware of mal functional practices that can lead to environmental disasters and also to uphold the rights of women in the society. The study systematically analyzed the two women and their growth as social leaders and has concluded with a model of social leadership. Leaders need to first categorize their self to the highest level of humanity and move towards servant leadership style. They should then move their followers to that level. The leader who is born out of this process become a social leader and becomes charismatic and influence thousands and millions of leaders to follow them and become leaders in their own way. Gandhi and Nelson Mandela leadership model is also the same. They became transformational leaders through the process of serving others first and sacrificing many luxuries and going through hardships towards a path of self discovery. The question that Dr. Beena has in her mind now is how can we transfer this to the business?? Can we say that managers who do self discovery and practice servant leadership may get more inspired self discovered followers?? Dr. Beena would love to get answers from you all about the same. You can contact her through beena@skylineuniversity.com.
Cloud computing and our daily life

Dr Riktosh Srivastava,

In today’s world, computers have become an intimate part of our daily lives. We take them with us everywhere we go in one form or other. This incessant convenience to technology has fashioned an environment where we are always allied to the imperative data of our lives. One of the prime benefits of having technology at our finger-tips is that we always have access to our favorite movies, photos, music and more. When traveling, we never have to be devoid of vital documents, out of contact with friends and family members, or be without the latest news and current events. Of course, with all this connectivity we also require tools and services to keep everything straight and effortless to use. One of the most essential developments in this regard has been the “cloud”. Cloud computing is a term that is used to refer to the storage of information on internet based servers rather than local storage devices. A person can access data from any connected device that has been given permission to do so and, if needed, has the right software installed. We don’t even know that we move around with the advantages of cloud computing in our hand.
There are a number of cloud computing applications that are completely free and we access them without even admiring the exquisiteness of Cloud Computing. The article focuses on some of the Cloud Computing applications that we use almost every day:

- Three main Social Media Sites: MySpace, Twitter, Facebook uses Cloud Computing extensively.
- Online Photo Editing Tools: Picnik and Pixlr.
- Online file storage: MediaFire, Megaupload and Rapidshare is are popular online file sharing applications that uses Cloud Computing.
- Digital Video: Youtube, WatchMoviesOnline,break.com, Google Video works on Cloud Computing environment to host the videos.
- Creating your image album online: Flickr, Fotolog, Photobucket, Webshots, Imagebeam and Ziddu.
- Anti-virus applications on the web: Cloud Antivirus, an antivirus cloud computing application on the cloud by a Spanish company Panda Security. PC World rates it as the best free anti-virus software.
- Finding your way on a map: The leading sites are Mapquest, Google Maps and Yahoo Maps. These have provided millions of people maps and directions and helped people get to their destinations over the last decade.
- Check the currency rate online: The most famous web based online currency conversion tool is XE, uses features of Cloud Computing to provide updated information regarding foreign exchange, trading currency and checking exchange rates.
- Courier Services: UPS and Fedex uses cloud computing to check the status of letters and packages. It provides free online tracking of packages to users.

It is believed almost 150 million users can sign in to use the cloud-based services. Needless to say, Cloud Computing holds a lot of promise and it is believed that it is likely to be a major influence on our daily life. Organizations are is preparing all of the products for potential Cloud compatibility in the future because the incumbent issues will be satisfactorily resolved as this new technology matures.
Dear young friends,

In today’s competitive world, one of the important traits that one should possess to not only survive but also to succeed is to be a good speaker. It becomes all the more important for you as business students to be a good speaker and a presenter because as one climbs the corporate ladder, one has to address not only one’s colleagues and subordinates on a numerous occasions but may need to speak to the customers and other stakeholders. However, I wish to reassure you that it is not difficult to be a good speaker and a presenter if you are willing to spend some time to understand and practice the tips given below which I have collected from different sources and have summarised them for you.

The first step before you prepare your speech is to give a serious thought to the following:

Who are you speaking to?

What do you wish to communicate?

How can you best convey your message? Language is important here, if time and place allow, consider and prepare audio-visual aids.

When? Timing is important here. Develop a sense of timing

Where? What is the physical context of the communication in mind? Check the availability and visibility if you are using audio or visual aids.

Why? In order to convert hearers into listeners, you need to know why they should listen to you – and tell them if necessary. One of the worst mistakes one can make as a speaker is talking too long. So be brief. Use short words and sentences. Where appropriate, support these with short, easy-to-understand examples, which help to demonstrate your message.

Important to pay attention to the words that you choose Always pay attention to the words you speak. It is essential that you think about the words before you speak them because there can always be a better way of saying whatever you wish to say. Another way is to listen to words others use that explain an idea better than you plan to. This helps you to think whether you can use these words in your speech.

Some Important Tips for a Speaker/ Presentator

- Always use eye contact with each member of the audience in turn.
- Always remember that some people get nervous in audiences too. Put them at their ease.
- Consider giving handouts to your audience members.
- Modulate your voice and speed during your speech and presentation.
- Where possible and useful you can use visual aids. It helps to make the speech and presentation more memorable. In case you plan to use audio visual aids, Ben Yoskovitz’s has suggested the following cues:
- Prepare: You might not need a word-for-word script, but prepare something. Make sure your story is compelling, entertaining and worth listening to.

• Practice: You need to practice. Even veteran presenters practice. Make sure you at least read it out loud a few times to develop a good rhythm.

• Pronounce: You need to speak clearly. There’s no room for mumbling in presentation.

• Participate: You should always try to engage your audience. The sooner they feel like they’re part of what you’re doing, the better.

Closing a Speech
The last thing one says in one’s speech may be the most remembered hence, one must put as much time in to selecting and practicing one’s closing as one puts into any other part of one’s speech and presentation. This will have a strong influence on what the audience takes home with them when one is done
Before I sign off, I want to emphasise that you can become a good and a successful speaker and a presenter provided you wish to be one and put in whole hearted efforts and time to be one. Best wishes.

Dr Rashad participates in ALLEEM Congress

Dr. Rashad, Associated professor in Marketing and international Business, participated in the last two Alleem Business Congresses as a key speaker. The first Congress entitled “Marketing and Branding Congress” held in Tuesday 4 October, 2011, Radisson BLU Hotel, Sharjah - U.A.E, in which he presented a lecture, entitled “The end of traditional marketing in the new millennium”. He said that the marketing concept has evolved during last fifty years in several stages, in the fifties was consumer orientation, and then evolved later in the sixties the so-called industrial marketing. In the seventies the concept moved in the process of social marketing, in the eighties moved to the stage of marketing service and, finally, since the nineties and even the new century has become known as e-marketing or interactive. All organizations must be aware all these changes and new events in terms of marketing, since information technology cannot be fragmented and it should be aware that the best investment in this technology starts in stages and does not dress selection of specific techniques at the expense of other, so I recommend to wait a bit to mature the adoption of information technology and to start building a simple databases technique and then start expand it slowly, avoiding import ready-made techniques but a necessity in adapting it with the organization Environment.

The second Congress was entitled “the 3rd leadership and Management Congress “in Tuesday 10 January 2012, Radisson BLU Hotel, Sharjah - U.A.E. in which he presented a lecture entitled “Leadership Management Challenges” where he said, that there are seven challenges in front of any successful leadership in the new millennium which are :(1. Win the customer satisfaction 2. Get rid of the bureaucracy 3. Support the wheel of change. 4. Adopt to manage the operations 5. Design appropriate organizational structure 6. Use the method of “comparative measurement of performance 7. Seek the help of distinguished skilled consultants external to the company)
The Center for Professional Development is the department of Skyline University College that serves the needs of the students for their personal development and training in the fields of aviation, airfreight, information technology, marketing, management, travel, tourism, and others. Through the CPD, Skyline University College mainly offers the students the opportunity to attend professional short term courses in aviation and airfreight. The Skyline courses include airline customer services, aircraft load control, airside ramp handling, cargo rating and handling, and the various courses in the Dangerous Goods Regulations for category 6, 8, and 9 personnel, and very soon category 10 as well.

IATA ATC TOP 10 2011 AWARD
In March 2011, at the 1st ATC Congress held at Kerala, India the University was handed the ATC Top 10 Award for the Middle East Region in recognition for its crucial role in developing the human capital of the aviation industry in the UAE by reaching out to the next generation of leaders which IATA strongly recognizes and supports the University’s efforts. According to the IATA Head of Distance Learning, Ismail ALBAIDHANI, “Skyline University College outreached one of the highest number of students in the region and therefore won our prestigious regional top-10 award.” He further said, “I was planning to give this award to you in person during our ATC Asia Congress in Cochin, India, I understood you had other commitments, nonetheless our IATA country office will deliver the certificate to you in the UAE.”
More Corporate customers underwent the CPD Training Programs. Citing a few are:

A two-week course on the “Dangerous Goods Regulations” for the staff of Fujairah International Airport was successfully conducted.

A two-week course on the “Dangerous Goods Regulations” for the staff of MIDEX AIRLINES, a scheduled air cargo wide body aircraft operator based at Sharjah Airport was successfully conducted.
